SSH13-VIS05 - Summer School - Right to the City: Appropriations of Public Spaces in Transition

Zusammenfassung

Summer School 30 June - 7 July 2014

Urban public spaces are constantly changing and highly contested territories. The fields of action that have to be considered when analysing urban public spaces range from the impact of global trends like neoliberalism on new urban policies, to everyday appropriations at the local level. The relationship between macro trends and micro scale actions manifests itself in ongoing transition processes, located in urban public spaces which are both spaces of differences and arenas of interaction.
